INGREDIENTS OVERVIEW

- Micronized Zeolite Clay: Zeolite is a complex mineral which forms from the contact of volcanic lava and water. Zeolites are one of nature's rare negatively charged minerals that can bind and remove a wide range of toxins from the human body, drinking water, and even waste materials safely and 100% naturally.

Acting like a very strong magnet, zeolites attract to positively charged toxins, chemicals and carcinogens, such as:

- | | |
|--------------------------------|----------------|
| ➤ Natural and Chemical Poisons | ➤ Pesticides |
| ➤ Radioactive Elements | ➤ Biotoxins |
| ➤ Microbes | ➤ Heavy Metals |

The best part is that this is done within all cells of your body and once attached to the zeolite magnet...it doesn't let go! It then excretes these toxins and carcinogens out of the body when you go to the bathroom.

- Activated Charcoal: This is not the same substance as that found in charcoal bricks or burnt pieces of food. Making activated charcoal involves heating carbon-rich materials, such as wood, peat, coconut shells, or sawdust, to very high temperatures. The end product makes it extremely adsorbent, allowing it to bind to molecules, ions, or atoms, especially within the gut where it has been found to aid in healing the gut, reducing inflammation and absorbing toxins and carcinogens.
- Chlorella: (as broken cell wall chlorella to unlock its benefits and allow for greater bioavailability): Chlorella is a green algae that not only offers a rich supply of nutrients for the digestive, circulatory, and respiratory systems, but also has the ability to bind to metals after they are released from tissues, and help prevent reabsorption. Containing more chlorophyll than any other plant, chlorella helps clean your blood, protect your liver, cleanse your intestines and improve your digestive system due to digestive enzymes. The antioxidants lutein and beta-carotene, enzymes, amino acids, proteins, minerals, vitamins and fiber in chlorella help boost your metabolism and immunity, fight cancer and increase brain function.
- Modified Alginic Acid: Alginates / Alginic Acid are the carbohydrates that make up the cell wall of seaweed and have the distinct capability to bind heavy metals to their own molecules. Alginates work mainly in the gastrointestinal tract to prevent reabsorption of toxins as they are being pulled from tissues.
- Citrus Pectin: Pectin is a polysaccharide (a complex carbohydrate) found in the cell wall of many citrus fruits. According to research, Citrus Pectin may help prevent the spread of cancer, lower the risk of heart disease, and treat people with certain types of heavy metal poisoning.
- Fulvic & Humic Acid: These are super-nutrients that literally comes from the dirt. An organic compound found in water and soil, made when plants and animals decompose. I say super-nutrient because they contain more than 70 plant based, highly absorbable, trace minerals as well as an array of natural soil-based probiotics. Benefits range from boosting the immune system, aiding digestion, detox and protection of overall health.
